

ISARS start-up proposing innovative cybersecurity risk management solution at WebSummit 2018

The ISARS startup specializing in cybersecurity is pleased to announce that it will be present at the 2018 Web Summit in Lisbon from 5 to 8 November where it will present its solution ISARS Audit.

ISARS is a French startup with a new approach to cybersecurity which develops and promotes the ISARS Audit solution for companies of all sizes and sectors with the goal of helping them to be more secure, to enable them to manage their cybersecurity risk and protect their assets on the Windows environment against data theft and intrusion.

ISARS developed a technology which collects a lot of configuration information on windows computers, identify weaknesses on systems and suggests recommendations. Unlike other solutions on the market, ISARS Audit is not based on logs but on security configuration information. In addition, the solution analyzes each Windows device, not just the active directory.

ISARS Audit helps IT department, CISO, internal auditors and controllers to make automatized cybersecurity continuous audits on all their Windows Computers. It can also be used by external auditors and Security Operation Centers (SOC).

ISARS CEO and co-founder, Dominique Van Egroo said: "The proliferation of security incidents and the diversity of IT systems now make it necessary to use automation to perform IT and cybersecurity audits as well as manage its risks. With ISARS Audit, we address a new market which is the market of cybersecurity audit and controls. It allows our clients to save time, manage their cybersecurity risks and do things they couldn't do before."

ISARS is in the growth phase and is developing its network of international partners for the ISARS Audit software solution.

ISARS is one of the French startup to be selected for the ALPHA program at the 2018 Web Summit in Lisbon. More than 70,000 participants from more than 170 countries are expected this year.

Come to visit us November 5-8 in Lisbon and have a demo of our cybersecurity solution ISARS Audit.
